PARIS BARBER ARRESTED ON DRAFT OBSTRUCTING CHARGE

William Howard, barber, who has been in the employ of Cahal Bros., in this city for some time past, was placed under arrest near North Middletown, Wednesday night, on a charge of obstructing the draft service and brought to this city. The arrest was made by Mr. Lawrence Mitchell and Forrest Day, of North Middletown, who turned their prisoner over to Sheriff McClintock and Deputy Sheriff Marshall. Howard was placed in the jail and held for the Federal authorities.

Howard had been under suspicion by the authorities for some time, but it was not until Wednesday that they were able to secure anything of a tangible nature in the way of evidence. Tuesday night Howard telephoned to Forrest Day, of near Paris, at Mitchell's store, in North Middletown, who is a draftee to be called some time soon in the service, and represented himself to be a Government man. He stated, it is alleged, to Day that he was on the inside of what was going on, and that he was in a position to be of considerable service to him. He stated further that he could get him out of the drafted list for $75. Day, suspecting something, pretended to fall in with Howard's scheme, and made an engagement to meet him Wednesday night at his (Day's) home near North Middletown. Mr. Day notified Mr. Lawrence Mitchell of the conversation and asked him to help him trap the man.

According to their agreement Howard came to North Middletown, and met Mr. Day. Together they proceeded to the home of the latter. Howard sat near an open window. Mr. Mitchell was concealed just outside, and overheard the conversation which followed. Howard reiterated his proposal, and added that he had a cinch in the matter of getting him and his brother both out of the drafted service, on the payment of $75 for one and $100 for the other. Day pretended acquiescence in the scheme, and made out a check for $75, which he turned over to Howard. Howard, after cautioning Day to keep silent about the transaction, left the house, and as he passed the porch was seized by Mr. Mitchell and Mr. Day and placed in a machine and brought to Paris, where he was turned over to the Sheriff. Mr. Day's check was found in Howard's pocket. The Secret Service authorities at Lexington were notified of the arrest and instructed the Sheriff to hold the man here pending an investigation of the case.

FISCAL COURT PROCEEDINGS.

The August term of the Bourbon Fiscal Court convened in the County Court room yesterday morning. County Judge Geo. Batterson presided with the following Justices present: Fretwell, Thomason, Burris, Talbott, Stephenson, Shropshire, Wiggins and Turner.

Claims against the county amounting to $1,542.57 were approved and ordered paid.

County Treasurer S. E. Bedford was ordered to borrow the sum of $10,000 for the use of the Turnpike Fund, payable January 1, 1919, bearing six per cent. interest from date until paid.

The report of County Road Engineer Ben F. Bedford for the month of July was received, read and ordered filed.

It was ordered that the sum of $1,250 per mile be appropriated to build the Wyatt and Reynolds turnpike and the County Road Engineer was directed to prepare plans and specifications of same and to advertise for bids to complete same.

The appropriation of $7.00 per month to John Thomas was ordered discontinued.

The County Road Engineer was instructed to investigate and report whether a rock quarry could be acquired for the county on the Escondida pike.

Justice Fretwell and County Attorney D. D. Cline were appointed a committee to have the roof of the court house repaired.

The Court adjourned to September 5th.

DIDN'T TELL ABOUT "THAT EAGLE NEST TRIP."

The Rev. E. M. Keeler, of Henderson, writing in the Central Methodist, of the recent Epworth League Assembly, at Lake Junaluska, North Carolina, had the following to say regarding the Kentucky delegation:

"Among the delegations from various States who are here to attend the Southern League Assembly, Kentucky has gone 'over the top,' having the largest representation. Mr. Dennis V. Snapp, the live wire president of the Kentucky Conference, is here, accompanied by a number of the most charming young ladies from the Blue Grass; and the Kentucky table, with its frequent 'yells' and original songs and poems, is more than contributing its share to the happy spirit that pervades the dining room during the meal hour."

BIG VOTE GOOD MEDICINE FOR SICK SENATOR JAMES

The big idea with leaders of the Democratic party in Kentucky is to bring out for Senator Ollie M. James' renomination at the primary election next Saturday the heaviest vote possible, and to that end all individual members of the party are being asked, regardless of what may be or may have been their political affiliations, to lay aside their business or professional tasks long enough to go to the polls and stamp a ballot for the stalwart Kentuckian, now ill in Baltimore, who so valiantly stood by President Wilson, aiding in the shaping and presentation of those war policies which daily seem more certain to produce world peace and the destruction of Prussianism.

During the week dispatches from Baltimore and letters from Washington brought information to the effect that Senator James was not so well as he had been and that caused his friends to send back stimulating messages and at the same time to redouble their efforts to bring out a vote of endorsement such as they believe will help him to recover.

The presence of the name of former Congressman Preston Kimball, of Lexington, upon the ballot as an opponent of Senator James has ceased to be a matter of consideration in any section of the State. It is conceded that Senator James would have received many thousands more votes than will be cast for Kimball, even had not the Lexingtonian issued the request to the Democratic voters to stamp their ballots for the man from Marion.

The Kentucky Court of Appeals has on two occasions quite recently held that under no circumstances may a candidate have nomination or office unless most votes have been cast for him, so it is contended by those who argue extremes, Kimball is quite out of consideration.

RED CROSS WORK.

The work for the Red Cross in this city and county is progressing steadily, reports from all the county showing the women at work with a vim to put their quota into the service for the good of the boys over the seas. At the Red Cross sewing rooms in this city there is activity manifested every day, while encouraging reports come from the county.

On Wednesday the members of the North Middletown Chapter of the Red Cross sent in a consignment of one hundred and forty pairs of socks they had knitted during July. The number would have been much larger had not the supply of yarn become exhausted. The women were assisted in their work by two colored women, Martha Bowles and Emily Garrett, who knitted several pairs of socks. Reports from other parts of the county show that more than five hundred pairs of socks were knitted by patriotic women during the month of July.

NEW LODGE OF RAILROAD EMPLOYEES ORGANIZED HERE.

A new lodge, the Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way Employees has been instituted in this city. The lodge is composed of employees of the Louisville & Nashville on all the Kentucky Central divisions. The work of instituting the lodge was conducted at the K. of P. Hall by Organizer A. F. Hendley, of Virginia. The new lodge bears the name of Victory Lodge B. of M. of W. E., and has fifty-three charter members.

The following officers were elected at the meeting: President, Frank Lenox; Vice-President, Neal Parker; Past President, Jos. Gaines; Secretary-Treasurer, C. Edward Faries; Journal Agent, W. W. White; Chaplain, Jerry Keller; Conductor, Henry Dickerson; Warden, A. Arthur; Inner Sentinel, Harry Hill; Outer Sentinel, Harvey Hunter.

The next meeting will be held on Saturday night, Aug. 17, when a large class will be initiated.

CHANGES IN L. & N. LOCAL FREIGHT OFFICE.

Mr. William Mitchell, who left Paris Monday for Vancouver Barracks, Washington, to become a member of Uncle Sam's big army, has been succeeded as clerk in the local freight office of the Louisville & Nashville by Mr. William Smith. Mr. Wm. Lall will succeed Mr. Leo Keller, who leaves the office on Aug. 9 to enter the naval service at the Great Lakes Naval Training Station.

NEW CALL MAY TAKE ALL THE 1918 DRAFTEES.

That calls for selected registrants during the months of August will exhaust the 1918 draft registration in addition to men of the old registration that have been reclassified and placed in Class 1, is the opinion of officers of the local draft boards after receiving a communication from Major Henry Rhodes, chief of the selective service of this State.

Major Rhodes in his communication stated that calls for August would induct approximately ten thousand men into the service and that all local boards should speed up the work of reclassification and examinations that they might have enough men available to fill their quotas.

Major Rhodes notified the local board that the selective service regulations have been amended as follows:

"Postmasters at first and second class postoffices are hereby authorized to file affidavits with local draft boards for the purpose of securing deferred classification, Class 3, for the following employees only: Supervisory officials in postoffices, postoffice clerks whose services cannot be dispensed with without materially lowering the efficiency of the service; drivers of government-owned automobiles, mechanics and skilled laborers whose services are absolutely necessary, clerks and substitute clerks employed at military branches."

PARIS COLORED EDUCATOR IN CHARGE OF BUILDING FUND.

Fifty-one negro school buildings will be built in this State if the proposal of the Rosenwald Building Fund is accepted. Rosenwald proposed to donate to the State $45,000 to build negro schools, provided the State or county give an equal amount.

Prof. F. M. Wood, Principal of the Western High School, of Paris, is in charge of the building fund and believes that 41 one-teacher school buildings will be erected. V. O. Gilbert, Superintendent of Public Instruction, had a communication from the Rosenwald fund stating that the $45,000 is now available.

TWO MORE DRAFT CALLS TO BE MADE IN AUGUST.

According to reports from Frankfort, Bourbon county will be called upon for two more contingents of draftees, a total of twenty-five, to report to the local board for service this month. The local board, according to announcement, will be required to furnish five young men to go to Indianapolis, Ind., for special training as automobile chauffeurs and mechanics on August 15. Between August 5 and 10, twenty young men are to be called into the service from this county. The local board has not yet received official notice of the call, and it is not yet known where the men will be sent for training.

The local board is now reclassifying the draftees. Under the new ruling only married men with children between the ages specified will be exempted. The registrants who sought exemption because of the dependence of a wife only will be reclassified. Features of the "work-or-fight" law also affect the reclassification.

NOTICE TO HOLDERS OF LIBERTY LOAN BONDS.

The Government is now prepared to exchange United States 4 1/2% Liberty Loan Bonds for all 4% Liberty bonds, and, as the privilege of making such change expires on November 9th, and the 4's are not thereafter convertible into any subsequent issue, and as the 4 1/2% bonds will probably sell about three points higher than the unconverted 4% bonds, it is important that all holders of 4% United States Liberty Bonds make the exchange.

If you want your 4% Bonds converted, please bring them to us, or notify us, and we will have them converted for you without any charge.

IN THE SERVICE OF THEIR COUNTRY.

Mr. Harry Jones, son of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. K. Jones, of near Paris, has applied for admission to the service as a member of the Officers' Reserve Corps. Mr. Jones is awaiting action on his application, and hopes to see service. If selected he will probably be assigned to Camp Gordon, in Georgia, where a new branch of the corps recently began training.

Mrs. James McClure left Wednesday for Camp Perry, Ohio, for a visit to her son, Lieut. James Winn McClure, of Paris. Lieut. McClure is stationed at Camp Perry as an officer in the Eighth U. S. Cavalry. Lieut. McClure was formerly a student at the Annapolis Naval Academy, Maryland, where he attained a high average.

Dr. J. T. Brown, who is stationed at Camp Greene, near Charlotte, N. C., as a member of the Medical Corps, writes that he has comfortable quarters and is well fixed in that respect. Dr. Brown has the rank of Captain, and is in charge of a ward in the Base Hospital at Camp Greene. He states that his time is fully occupied with the work in his charge and that he has no time for play.

Leo Keller, son of Mrs. Edward C. Keller, has volunteered and been accepted for service in the navy. He will leave on August 9 for the Naval Training Station at Great Lakes, Ill., where he will be inducted into the service. Mr. Keller, before his enlistment was employed at the Third street freight station of the L. & N., as a member of the clerical force.

Salute First Sergeant Y. H. Harrison, please! The popular Paris man, who is stationed at the practice range at West Point, Ky., has recently been commissioned First Sergeant, and has several Bourbon county boys under his command. Sergeant Harrison is with Batter A., of the 324th Field Artillery in service at the artillery range. He was slightly hurt some time ago when his horse fell on him, but is recovering.

Several Bourbon county boys have recently been transferred from the infantry branch of the service at Camp Zachary Taylor to the artillery service on the practice range at West Point, near Louisville. Among those who have been taken for this service are Sergt. Allen Huddleston, Sergt. Ghent Wilson and C. E. Stewart. The latter has been made Canteen Steward at the range. Corp. Merritt J. Slicer, of Paris, who is also a member of the Field Artillery at West Point, is at present in Paris on a furlough visit to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Slicer, on South Main street.

Maj. Henry Rhodes, Chief of the Selective Service Department, has issued a call to local boards for 472 men to be sent to Indianapolis, Aug. 15, for training as chauffeurs and mechanics. In the call the quota appointed to Central Kentucky counties is as follows: Bath, 2; Bourbon, 5; Clark, 5; Fayette, 5; Fleming, 6; Franklin, 6; Harrison, 6; Jessamine, 3; Madison, 10; Montgomery, 5; Nicholas, 4; Owen, 5; Scott, 5; Woodford, 2; City of Lexington, 10. Eight hundred registrants will go to Ft. Thomas on August 5, for general military training. Bourbon county's quota in this call will be twenty.

In a letter from the officers' training camp at Wilmington, Delaware, Sergt. Newsum Keller, of Paris, writes his father, Dr. A. H. Keller, of this city, that he is in line for promotion to a Lieutenancy in the service. Sergt. Keller writes in part, as follows under date of July 29: "They are keeping me so busy here just now that I hardly get time to eat, much less write, and for the next month to come it is going to be some hard driving for me. I am going to start in to-night burning the midnight oil. . . . You will be surprised, I know, when I inform you that our Captain has recommended me for a commission. He called me to his quarters yesterday, and I had a long talk with him. He said that since I had been with his company he had kept a pretty close watch on me and that I had certainly been faithful and efficient in the performance of my duties. (Now, dad, you know I am naturally modest and I am writing this in a modest way.) He said that when he saw a man who was going to do the right thing he was going to try to help him. . . . Several days ago he received a letter from Washington asking if there was any non-coms in his company whom he thought would be available for commission as Lieutenants. . . . It is going to require lots of hard work and study in the next thirty days, but I am going after this position, and if I fall down it will not be because I did not try. As I understand it, I will leave here about August 25th, I think, for Governor's Island, in the Eastern Department for examination. I hope the next time you see me I will be wearing the bars on my shoulder straps. My present address is Co. D., 12th Battalion, Pigeon Point, Wilmington, Delaware."

Mr. Edwin A. Woods left Fort Thomas, Wednesday night, for Hattiesburg, Miss., and will be stationed in the Quartermaster's Department for special service at that place. Mrs. Woods was the guest of Mr. Woods, Sunday, at Fort Thomas.

Mr. Ernest Kiser, of near Paris, has been promoted to the position of Chief Mechanic of Co. A., 326th Artillery, at the practice grounds at West Point, Ky. He will receive the pay of a Sergeant.

Lieut. Martin Doyle, formerly of Paris, who is now stationed on the United States Coast Guard ship the Penrose, at Pensacola, Fla., has been promoted from Second Lieutenant to First Lieutenant, which is equivalent to a Captaincy during the war. He has served eleven years in the navy, and is preparing for a trip overseas. Lieut. Doyle is a son of the late Mr. John Doyle, of Paris, and a brother of Mr. George Doyle and Miss Winifred Doyle, both of this city.

Dr. David Barrow, who is in France at the head of the Base Hospital Unit he organized last summer, has been promoted from Major to the rank of Lieutenant-Colonel. The promotion was announced in a recent issue of the Army and Navy Journal. In order to give Dr. Barrow supreme command of the Unit it was necessary to raise him to the rank of Lieutenant-Colonel. There have been very few cases where a reserve physician has received such a commission.

Ireland "Bit" Davis, who left here Monday afternoon with five other Bourbon boys for Vancouver Barracks, in Washington, writes THE NEWS a postcard message from Clinton, Iowa, as follows: "About twelve cars of we 'misfits' left Chicago this a. m. (July 31.) Some troop train and really good meals we are getting. S. F. S. G. (So far so good.) Tell Pearce Paton we still have the Holladay's candy, and that Capt. Mitchell is some chauffeur. Regards to all from the six jolly misfits."

Mrs. Mollie James, of this city, has received a letter from her son, Mr. Cornelius (Buddy) James, stating that he is to be transferred to a French war vessel for active duty soon. Young James was a member of the gun crew of the U. S. transport, the Covington, which was recently sunk by a German submarine. He wrote to his mother a few days ago from France, stating that he was there with no immediate prospect of being placed on active duty, but the new assignment came later on to relieve him.

Rene Clark and Robert Burnett, both of Paris, have enlisted in the naval service as apprentice seamen, and will leave next Monday for the Great Lakes Naval Training Station, where they will go into active training. Both were accepted at the Cincinnati Naval Recruiting Station last week, and ordered to report at Great Lakes, Ill., on August 5. They are excellent young men of fine character, such as Uncle Sam makes good sailors out of, and eventually, capable officers. Here's wishing you both good luck.

Mr. Hiram Roseberry, of Paris, who is stationed at Camp Zachary Taylor as a member of the Bourbon county contingent in the service, has returned to his army duties there, after a visit to his father, Mr. John Roseberry, and his sister, Miss Carolyn Roseberry, near Paris. Like the other patriotic Paris and Bourbon county boys, now that they are in Uncle Sam's service, Mr. Roseberry wants to get over yonder and do his bit with a gun and a bayonet in teaching the Huns the science of warfare.

Mr. James W. Thompson, Jr., of near Paris, has filed an application for enlistment in the Marine Corps of the naval service. Mr. Thompson enlisted as a mechanic in the aviation division. Mr. Thompson will leave next Tuesday with Nelson Brooks, of Lexington, for Philadelphia, where they will receive their training. Mr. Thompson's application had been held up awaiting action on waivers asked because of his height. Mr. Thompson is a fine specimen of manhood, being six feet high and weighing in proportion. He will make an ideal member of the Marines. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. James H. Thompson, of near this city. Mr. Thompson attended both Yale University and the University of Virginia before taking up farming.

EDITORIAL MUSINGS.

We Are Busy Lot Now.

We are a very busy lot of people in Paris just now. Men, women and children are all engaged in seeing what they can do for the soldiers at the front. The gallant way in which our American boys, and their allies, are fighting, makes our hearts swell with pride, and more are going over every day to see that the victory is made possible and to bring it closer.

How glorious it will be in the history of the world to have it said that the gallant Americans, and among them thousands of Kentuckians, and hundreds of Bourbon county boys, have helped to save Belgium, France, England, ourselves and a great deal of the rest of the world from being murdered!

Just as we are able to get cheering news from the front and the cards saying that our boys going over there have escaped the U-boats and had arrived safely in some French port, no one thinks of or cares very much for social affairs, though, if a thoughtful woman gives a tea, luncheon, party or dinner, and wishes to show what delicious things she has learned to make at the war kitchen or from trying out recipes found in papers and bulletins, we rise to the occasion, don our bravest apparel, and settle and enjoy them with even old-time zest and fervor.

The women are wondering to themselves what they are going to put on the registration cards which they are soon to be asked to sign by the Woman's Committee of the Council of National Defense and fill in the sort of work in which they are most proficient. So many women do things well without considering themselves expert in any that it will be a little difficult to decide which to put on record. Quite a list of capabilities will be allowed on the cards, however, so that the records are sure to be the most interesting and valuable in making statistics of the country's power, and all should feel more than proud to be on such a roll.

Some one has suggested that we make more of a demonstration when we hear of an advance or a successful drive at the front, that we should ring the church bells, wave flags, play a song of victory, or to tell it by acclaim. And in so doing we will be honoring the Bourbon county boys who will be sure to be somewhere on the front, somewhere in the thick of fighting, somewhere, but at all times attesting their courage and prowess on the battlefield, as their ancestors did before them.

Appearances Against Him

A few nights ago a group of Paris business met sat in the office of one of their number, after the whole party had spent part of an agreeable evening at the Grand Opera House. The film play depicted, in one of the scenes, the destruction of an entire town by fire. The scene brought up a discussion of big fires in this and surrounding cities. One of the party told this one:

"Many years ago when Paris was in its heyday and was by far a much livelier town than it is now, one of regular visitants was the Lyons Comedy Company, which many of our people will no doubt yet remember. The company was playing at the old Odd Fellows' Hall, in the room at present occupied by the Cumberland Telephone Co. There was a scene in the second act where the 'village clock' strikes the hour of midnight. The 'clock,' a big farm bell, borrowed from Robert J. Neely, was in charge of 'Shiner' Hite, Sr., who was then stage manager, bill poster, etc.

"When the 'clock' was first brought into play 'Shiner' put a trifle more energy into his work than was really necessary, and the old farm bell gave out a sound very similar to that of the big tower bell on the roof of the old Paris fire department. At the first stroke a young Paris society man sitting next to me jumped hurriedly to his feet. He turned to his fair companion and exclaimed, 'There's the fire bell! I'll go and see where the fire is!' The lady, whose hearing was not so very acute, made way for him in silence, and he disappeared just as 'Shiner's' strong right arm beat out the last thundering stroke on the 'old village clock.' Presently the young fellow returned. As he passed me there was a suspicious odor of cloves in his wake. As he resumed his seat he said, 'It wasn't fire.' 'Nor water, or lemonade, I judge,' replied the young woman, coldly, 'for, from indications it must have been ice today!'"

Enforce All of the Laws.

Many laws are not enforced because there are officers, or others, who do not believe some of the laws we have are good laws. But, regardless of whether or not our laws are good, they should be enforced. It is not for the officers, or the citizens, to decide on questions like these. We have the laws, and good or bad, they should be enforced.

There are many laws which everybody recognizes as good that are not enforced, and these are the ones that the officers should have no trouble in having enforced. There is one city law that should be enforced and that is the one requiring drivers of automobiles to make the proper turns at intersections of streets. Many accidents may be prevented if this law is enforced. There are, doubtless, others that need attention, but we mention this one for the benefit of drivers of vehicles who drive all over the streets without regard for where they are going.

The other day a herd of cattle was driven through the Main street, and if this is not against the city's laws it should be, as it is dangerous to have live stock running loose on our principal streets. We say these things not in a way of criticism, but simply making some suggestions that may prove to be for the good of the town.

The Miserable Slackers.

It is said that about 100 deserters from the United States army are eking out a miserable existence at the Mormon settlers in Northern Mexico. Despised by their Mexican neighbors and haunted by the consciousness of their guilt, they are pitiful objects. In the Arkansas hills and woods are other such men without a country, being hunted down, sometimes giving up their lives ignobly instead of saving their souls by doing their part in the defense of home and country.

What a choice! In the hope of present safety these slackers have taken a course that proves them willing to give up the country that is defending them to the enemy invader to work his will in wholesale slaughter, in the ruin of cities, in the torture and death of women and children and in the slavery of the survivors, including themselves.

The guilt of the man who deserts his country in her time of need is the worst possible guilt. Tacitly, he is an aid to the enemy and a traitor to the mother who bore him. Unless altogether brutalized and degraded, there is no rest for him walking or dreaming this side of the grave. His only hope of relief is in giving himself up to take such punishment as the law may inflict.

The Supreme Sacrifice.

Yesterday I said "Our flag," And proudly set it high Over the top of my doorway As the khaki lines went by; But to-day, to-day it is "My flag," Last night there was news to tell. And bone of my bone and flesh of my flesh

Went down in that Hun-made hell. I said, "Our land," and "Our flag," As the long lines marched away; Flag and land and dear lads They are all "mine" to-day. For somewhere out on a Picardy plain,

With only his God to see, Drop by drop as his life went out, They were bought by my boy for me.

Moral—Trade in Paris.

The way the Lexington and Fayette county authorities are running down automobiles that do not conform entirely to their iron clad rules and handing their owners fines of $50 and more is not helping that section so as you would notice it. Those who travel in autos will shun the blue grass city, for the going to which there appears no very good reason anyway—Interior Journal.

Large numbers of people all over Central Kentucky come to Paris to do their shopping, and if the above is true there is no reason why everyone who wants to go to a first-class town to trade should not come here. We have "rules and regulations" here, of course, but we guarantee to treat you people right.

Paris Historical Pleasures.

It's the same old creek,
And the same old boat,
And the same old rod,
And the same old float,

And the same old line,
And the same old hook,
And the same old pull
To the same old nook.

It's the same old bait
From the same old can,
It's the same old hat
On the same old man.

It's the same old yank,
And the same old run,
It's the same old game,
And the same old fun.

But one thing we lack,
That we gladly used to "pack"
That's the old "liquid bait"
Which helped to set the gait.

NEWSPAPERS MUST CONSERVE ON PRINT PAPER.

Because of an acute shortage in the supply of paper the War Industries Board announced, effective July 15, the following preliminary economies to be enforced by newspapers publishing a daily and weekly edition:

Discontinue the acceptance of the return of unsold copies.

Discontinue the use of all samples or free promotion copies.

Discontinue giving copies to anybody, except for office-working copies or where required by statute law in the case of official advertising.

Discontinue giving free copies to advertisers, except not more than one copy each for checking purposes.

Discontinue the arbitrary forcing of copies on news dealers (i. e., compelling them to buy more copies than they can legitimately sell in order to hold certain territory.)

Discontinue the buying back of papers at either wholesale or retail selling price from dealers or agents in order to secure preferential representation.

Discontinue the payment of salaries or commissions to agents, dealers, or newsmen for the purpose of securing the equivalent return privileges. Discontinue all free exchanges.

The Gift of God.

Sleep is the gift of God. We think we lay our heads upon our pillows and compose our bodies in a peaceful posture, and that therefore we naturally and necessarily fall asleep. But it is not so. Sleep is the gift of God, and not a man would close his eyes did not God put his fingers on his eyelids; did not the Almighty send a soft and balmy influence over his frame which lulled his thoughts into quiescence, making him enter into that blissful state of rest which we call sleep.—Charles H. Spurgeon.

Forefathers Had No Luxuries.

People who complain because they cannot get some of the little luxuries they used to enjoy before the war might do well to remember that their forefathers lived without sugar till the fourteenth century, without coal till the fourteenth, without butter on their bread till the fifteenth, without tobacco and potatoes till the sixteenth, without tea, coffee and soap till the seventeenth, without umbrellas and lamps till the eighteenth, and without trains, telegrams, telephones, gas and machines till the nineteenth.

Make Our Own Beauty.

Men and women make their own beauty or ugliness. Bulwer speaks in one of his novels of a man "who was uglier than he had any business to be," and, if we could but read it, every human being carries his life in his face, and is good looking, or the reverse, as that life has been good or evil. On our features the fine chisels of thought and emotion are eternally at work.—Alexander Smith.

Substitute for Platinum.

A gold palladium alloy which makes an acceptable substitute for the more expensive platinum iridium alloy used in chemists' utensils has been developed by metallurgists in California.

Daily Optimistic Thought.

Riches without charity are nothing but charity without riches is evidence of true worth.

YOUTHFUL JESSE JAMES ROBS CINCINNATI BANK.

CINCINNATI, O., Aug. 1.—With a revolver in each hand a youthful appearing bandit shortly after 1 o'clock Saturday afternoon held up and robbed the Reading Bank, Benson and Jefferson avenues, Reading, Ohio, of $7,000 in currency.

"Get into that vault quickly and hand over the cash. I mean business!" the bandit said in a mild voice to Cashier E. J. Fagley, who soon appeared with the money in $5, $10 and $20 bills. These he placed in a bag at the command of the robber.

The bandit then slowly backed out of the main entrance of the bank and entered a waiting automobile alongside a youthful chauffeur. As the automobile began to move Cashier Fagley darted from the bank and fired at the car, two shots passing through the tonneau.

Half an hour later Stanley Grueninger, 15 years old, 300 Sheppard avenue, Lockland, Ohio, pulled up in front of the Reading Bank in his machine and announced he had hauled the bandit to the end of the Bond Hill car line because the robber's weapon was held against him. The boy chauffeur is employed at a Lockland garage. He described the robber as being approximately 23 years old, 5 feet 6 inches tall, weighing 160 pounds. He wore a light gray suit, checked cap, was of light complexion, had light hair and several days' growth of beard.

Similar robberies of recent years, were as follows: Bandit Frank Hohl, a national character, obtained approximately $14,000 from West End banks in daylight hold-ups. He shot and killed Patrolman Edward Knall, and himself was killed by Patrolman Chase.

Youths named Marcus and Patterson attempted a daytime robbery in an uptown bank. They took approximately $300, but Marcus was shot to death by the cashier and his confederate in a cellar.

Edwin von Walden, styled by police as "the gentleman robber," a few months ago held up the First National Bank of Madisonville, making a haul of more than $8,000. Through information furnished by Private Operatives Cal Crim and Paul Ryan, von Walden was apprehended in New York City.

Patrick Kearney, James Lawler and "Zeke" Moran, local characters, held up a Covington (Ky.) building and loan association, obtaining approximately $1,100. They killed two Directors, wounded Police Chief Klumper, who in turn shot to death Moran. Later Kearney and Lawler were captured, tried in Covington for murder and sentenced to be electrocuted last June. They have been confined in the Eddyville (Ky.) Penitentiary waiting for the Appellate Court to consider their cases. Two gambling houses in Newport, Ky., were held up and relieved of several thousand dollars by men.

Reading dime novels of the Jesse James variety and of the exploits of Edwin von Walden, Cincinnati, youthful bank bandit now confined in the State Asylum for the Criminal Insane at Lima, Ohio, led William Nordmeyer, 17 years old, 1723 Holman street, Covington, Ky., butcher, to rob the Reading Bank, Reading, Ohio, Saturday, of approximately $7,000, he told Cincinnati and Covington police Sunday afternoon, after his arrest on a charge of bank robbery.

The arrest of Nordmeyer was made Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock by Covington officials, following the discovery of $6,870 in the basement of the home of his sweetheart, Miss Julia Foley, East Third Street, just east of Greenup Street, Covington, where it had been concealed by Nordmeyer without the knowledge of any member of the Foley family. The money was under an old box in the cellar.

The money still was in its original packages of $250 and $500 denominations, and in the school bag which Nordmeyer threw down in front of the cashier of the Reading Bank Saturday afternoon, with the demand that it was "filled with the money." It was wrapped in several old newspapers, and except for the box over the package no further effort at concealment had been made.

The recovery of the money and the arrest of the youthful bandit was the result of the discovery of the money by a sister of Miss Foley, and the action of Miss Foley's mother in notifying Captain Sam J. Martin, Covington Police Department.

That official ascertained upon his arrival at the Foley home Nordmeyer had called Saturday afternoon while the family was absent and that he was seen by neighbors to descend into the basement by means of an outside cellar stairway.

Immediately Captain Martin returned to headquarters and turned over to Chief of Police Klumper the bank robber's loot, and with Detectives Sanford, Drees, Higgins and Refan went to the vicinity of Nordmeyer's home. There they discovered Monday morning by Detective Chief Love, Nordmeyer said that if he was given a chance he would join the navy or the army. He said that he regretted his foolish act and declared that after he was out of his trouble he would never again do anything wrong. The youth was sent to the juvenile court. The money also will be placed in the custody of that court.

patched a messenger to Nordmeyer and decoyed him to the saloon of Harry Niemann, Sixteenth and Holman Streets, where, at the points of revolvers, they placed him under arrest. Nordmeyer made no attempt at resistance and took his arrest coolly. He admitted at once he knew why he was being arrested, and declared he was glad to have a chance to "get it off his chest."

Detailing his get away he said after leaving the auto he walked across the public golf links at Paddock road, near Tennessee avenue. His schoolbag containing his loot was under his arm. He said he met a number of caddies and told them he was going swimming. He proceeded on his way to Sherman and McNeil avenues, in Norwood, where he boarded a Norwood car, came downtown and boarded a Ludlow car for Covington. "I alighted from the Ludlow car at Second and Court Streets," continued Nordmeyer, "and walked over Second to Greenup, thence to Third Street and the home of Miss Foley. I knocked at the door, but received no answer. A neighbor boy said the family was not at home. I wanted some place to hide the money, so I went down into the cellar, after wrapping some paper around the bag I hid it under a box I found there."

ELEVATOR CRUSHES LIFE OUT OF CYNTHIANA BOY.

CYNTHIANA, KY., Aug. 1.—The twelve-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Fitzwater, East Pleasant Street, was killed Saturday afternoon, while playing on an elevator in the warehouse of Clarence LeBus, on the railroad between Pike and Pleasant Streets.

Workmen saw the boy running the elevator up to the third floor, and warned him to be careful. Later they missed him and found the elevator stopped some distance up the shaft. On investigating they found that the boy had leaned from the car so that an iron beam had struck his neck and stopped the elevator, holding him there. The boy's neck was broken. Ed. Fitzwater, father of the boy is an employee of Mr. LeBus. He was working Saturday on his farm near Leesburg.

THE BEST PLASTER.

A piece of flannel dampened with Chamberlain's Liniment and bound on over the seat of pain is often more effectual for a lame back than a plaster and does not cost anything like as much.

Don't Neglect Your Eyes.

"Oh, mother, I see lights in the sky." And this child, after visiting an optometrist, saw the stars for the first time. His mother, though a strong woman, broke down and wept to think she had neglected the child so long. Father, mother, are you going to allow your child to be thus neglected, when an examination of their eyes will reveal his or her true condition? Over 50 per cent. of children have defective vision in some way. Better bring your child to us for a thorough, scientific examination. Will not advise glasses unless absolutely necessary.

Open Saturday evenings until 9 o'clock.

LEXINGTON BOY KILLED BY DESCENDING ELEVATOR.

LEXINGTON, KY., Aug. 1.—John Edwin Richardson, 18 years old, employed in the bottling department of the Phoenix hotel, was instantly killed when struck by a descending passenger elevator about 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

At the time the accident occurred young Richardson was helping an electrician, Frank Sweeney, oil the eastern elevator. The car had been stopped at the third floor and the men were at work on top of the cage.

Sweeney was working with his back turned to Richardson and did not see the accident. From the position of the body and owing to the fact that the western car, the one which struck him, had to be elevated several feet in order to release his arm, it is believed by those acquainted with the circumstance that Richardson was leaning upon one of the steel girders which traverse the shaft between the passageway of the east and west elevators, and his attention being centered on something below failed to note the approaching car.

Katie Phelps, one of the negro girls employed as operators on the elevators at the hotel, was in charge of the car which struck the young man. Feeling the shock of the blow she stopped the car at once. Sweeney discovered the accident at the same moment and summoned assistance. The body was removed and taken to an undertaking establishment.

Young Richardson lived at 362 South Mill Street, is survived by his mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Richardson, and a younger brother, George Richardson. His father has been dead for some time and he supported his mother and brother.

The management of the hotel and his associates at work spoke of him in the highest terms. He had been in the employment of the company for about a year and a half.

CURE FOR DYSENTERY.

"While I was in Ashland, Kansas, a gentleman overheard me speaking of Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy," writes William Whitelaw, of Des Moines, Iowa. "He told me in detail of what it had done for his family, but more especially his daughter who was lying at the point of death with a violent attack of dysentery, and had been given up by the family physician. Some of his neighbors advised him to give Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy, which he did, and fully believes that by doing so saved the life of his child. He stated that he had also used this remedy himself with equally gratifying results." (adv-aug)

"THE AMERICAN'S CREED"

"I believe in the United States of America as a Government of the people, by the people, for the people; whose just powers are derived from the consent of the governed; a democracy in a republic; a sovereign nation of many sovereign States; a perfect union, one and inseparable; established upon those principles of freedom, equality, justice and humanity for which American patriots sacrificed their lives and fortunes. I, therefore, believe it is my duty to my country to love it; to support its Constitution; to obey its laws; to respect its flag and to defend it against all enemies."

MONEY FURNISHES THE PUNCH.

"After all, money forms the sinews of war," declared General Foch several months ago in discussing the situation and outlook along the Flanders front when things looked darkest. His army was fighting tooth and nail then, hitting hard and stepping back, parrying a thrust and darting in to deliver a counter punch, and all the while taking heavy toll of the Germans. But he was looking ahead even then.

He knew, as well as other great generals that preceded him, that after all is said and done, money, which in this sense means the supplies that money can be made to furnish gives an army its punch. That money is absolutely, imperatively necessary to win any big, long-drawn-out war. Without money—the things money will buy—any army will go to pieces sooner or later. It has been exemplified over and over again.

An army may be ever so well trained; its morale at the outset may be ever so good; it may have the advantage of position and weapons of warfare, but unless it is kept supplied with all that is necessary for the waging of war, the actual fighting even to the hand-to-hand struggle, it will weaken sooner or later. It must have arms, ammunition, food and clothing sufficient to make it effective, and have them all the time.

No army fights well on an empty stomach if the fight is much prolonged. No army can withstand continued attack if it lacks ammunition. No army can stand winter trench service inadequately clothed. It may meet with reverses and yet come back and fight valiantly. The Italians did this. The French did it. The English did it. Frequently a temporary reverse spurs to greater effort, greater gallantry, greater execution.

But this doesn't apply to an army that has lost its punch. Witness the Russians.

America's forces have gone abroad full of vim, vigor and fighting spirit. They have held up their end valiantly. They are making good to the consternation of Germany and the admiration of their allies. They will uphold American tradition if we at home maintain our end of the problem.

And that is to furnish the money properly to supply their needs. To maintain the army punch.

It's up to us individually and collectively. It's our duty to prepare to do our part to the last man. It's up to us to get ready for the next Liberty Loan.

CATARRHAL DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED

By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure catarrhal deafness, and that is by a constitutional remedy. Catarrhal deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Many cases of deafness are caused by catarrh, which is an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarrh Medicine acts through the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Catarrhal Deafness that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Medicine. Circulars free. All Druggists, 75c.

THINGS TO WORRY ABOUT.

A Dutch inventor has evolved a telephone scarcely larger than a lead pencil which depends upon the heat generated in a piece of platinum wire by electricity to record vibrations. It is said to be very efficient.

But the old style phones are efficient enough—especially in transmitting bad news. When there is any bad news on tap the old style phone don't respond, will come and drag you out of bed. If it is good news, the phone tinkles once very faintly and passes away.

LITTLE CAST ASIDE

How Military Stores on Mexican Border Are Salvaged.

Nothing That It Is Possible to Repair, or in Any Way Make Useful, Is Ever Thrown Away as Worthless.

The most extensive dealer in junk on the Mexican border wears an olive drab uniform, two bars on his shoulders and a serious look, for business is always rushing with Capt. Fred Felix, Uncle Sam's junk man in the cavalry division here, writes the Fort Bliss (Tex.) correspondent of the New York Sun.

As head of the salvage and reclamation department of the general quartermaster depot here, Captain Felix and his force of enlisted men are repairing and salvaging supplies which have been discarded by the United States army in the border district. Three warehouses, a part of the fort machine shops, and 176 yard downtown, are used for this work.

Tents which have been torn by the winds are repaired by men who have been sailors or who have experience in repairing canvas. Canvas cot covers which have been torn are cut up into small pieces and made into clothing bags. These cot covers were formerly discarded. A tailor shop has been established where worn and torn uniforms are repaired, buttons sewn on, the uniforms steam cleaned and pressed and returned to the owners.

Army shoes which have been worn by many marches over the desert sands near the fort are half-soled by machinery, ripped places stitched, new laces inserted and the shoes sent back for further wear. Not a scrap of leather is permitted to be wasted by the reclamation and salvage department. Shoes too badly worn to be repaired, and cavalry boots, are ripped to pieces and the leather used for repairing other boots and shoes. The scraps are then sent to market for use in the manufacture of composition belting.

Recently 15 meat grinders for preparing meat for cooking were condemned and sent to the reclamation department to be sold for junk. Instead, the parts were separated, reassembled and five good grinders obtained, while the remaining parts were stored for repairing other grinders. Broken parts were sold for junk.

Wagons, automobiles, tank wagons, soup kitchens and every other kind of field equipment is received by this department. Wagonmakers replace worn parts of transport and ammunition wagons with new ones. All automobile parts are classified and a crew of garage men repair the cars as they come to the shops. Even tracks for caterpillar trucks are kept for repairing those big trucks which haul supplies over the desert.

Broken spurs, ragged guidons and flags, eyelets from worn-out puttees, harness, saddles, the ropes and even "bull whips" used by the army mule drivers are salvaged in Uncle Sam's big junk shop here, and the government is saved thousands of dollars by repairing army property which otherwise would have to be replaced with new.

Potash From Cement Dust.

Extraction of potash from dust is claimed as a possibility. James D. Rhodes, a Pittsburgh manufacturer, claims to have made the discovery, and at his own expense has arranged to erect a large experimental plant adjoining the plant of a cement company at Castalia, O., for the purpose of experimenting for 120 days.

The Castalia plant is in the hands of a receiver and it was necessary to get permission of the United States district court before Mr. Rhodes could enter into any agreement with the receiver. This was granted.

Mr. Rhodes said he could extract large quantities of potash for fertilizer from the dust and waste of cement mills that will be of great benefit to the country in increasing the supply. It is understood that the United States government is watching the experiment with interest.

Dogs on the Battlefield.

Experiments made in the training of dogs as messengers with the armies in the field have, it is stated, given satisfactory results. The dogs which have proved most receptive under instruction are chiefly half-bred collies and retrievers. A rather poor breed of bob-tailed sheep dogs has also done well. All have been trained to perform their errands during heavy firing, both rifles and guns. They can be fired over as easily as the ordinary sporting dog, and what is quite another thing, they will face fire at close range. Many have shown amazing skill in getting over, under and through all sorts of obstacles, including wire.

Destination—Berlin.

H. T. Bennett, a Seymour traveling man, was standing on a depot platform in a Kentucky town while a group of colored men were waiting to entrain, and overheard the following conversation between one of the conscripts and a colored girl who was bidding him goodbye:

"Well, Sam, are you goin' with this bunch? I suppose you are goin' to France right soon, ain't you?" the girl asked.

"Not exactly," replied the soldier candidate. "I suppose I'll go through France, but you see, I'm on my way to Berlin."—Indianapolis News.

18 BILLION ARMY BILL IS FORECAST.

An eighteen billion dollar army bill for 1919-20 to meet the vast increase in the military establishments proposed by the War Department was forecast by Representative Kahn, of California, ranking minority member of the House Military Committee, in an address at Cleveland, Ohio, before the League of Republican clubs.

"This means additional Liberty bonds," Representative Kahn said. "It means additional taxation; it means, if it means anything, that the American people must be prepared to give their all, if need be. Perhaps the time will come when every individual in the United States will have to content himself with the bare necessities of life, and surrender everything he possesses to aid his government."

"We have not begun to make sacrifices in the United States, we do not know the pinch of hunger—I hope and pray we may never know it—but we will be the better prepared for possible eventualities if we begin now the practice of self-denial."

RAILROADS CAN'T GIVE RATES FOR CHARITY.

The railroads have received orders not to make any more reduced rates to charitable organizations or to State, city or county governments. This also covers the free transportation sometimes given in the past to Sisters of Charity and the like.

This practice if allowed to one person would have to be given to all, greatly reducing the revenue of the government. Owing to the fact that the government is in great need of revenue at this time all free passage or reduced rates on both the passenger or freight lines have been discontinued.

TO IMPROVE YOUR DIGESTION.

"For years my digestion was so poor that I could eat only the lightest foods. I tried everything that I heard of to get relief, but not until about a year ago when I saw Chamberlain's Tablets advertised and got a bottle of them did I find the right treatment. Since taking them my digestion is fine."—Mrs. Blanche Bowles, Indiana, Pa. (adv-aug)

The worst notion that any young man can get into his head is the fool idea that to be good is to be a sissy.

Misery loves company, but even that sort of company can wear its welcome out.

The President has asked Senator Lewis to run for re-election, but J. Ham is such a modest, shrinking violet undoubtedly he will need a lot of coaxing.

LETTERS FROM BOURBON BOYS IN CAMP.

The following letter under date of July 9, has been received from Mr. Charles Tackett, formerly of Paris, who enlisted in the service some time ago. Mr. Tackett is stationed at the Coast Artillery camp, at Ft. Kearney, Rhode Island. His letter follows:

"Our barracks are located about one hundred yards from Narragansett Bay, where the salt water breezes play around us at night. We have to have blankets or we would get very damp from the salty vapors that drift in with the breezes. It is not very pleasant to wake up, as I did the first night on two, and find that I was almost in a chill from the night winds from the ocean. I had to put on extra clothing one or two times while the others were drying. The air is always very damp around here, because the ocean is so near, you see. I know from experience, as I went to sleep once about half-an-hour before lights were out, and woke up at 12:30 a. m., and talk about someone wishing for the good old Southland, it was me that night.

"The heavy artillery is sure one good branch of the service, as you cannot help from taking an interest in your drills and doing your best. The way our days are generally spent is by jumping out of bed at 5:50 a. m., then dressing and having our bunks made up nicely by 6:00. For twenty-five minutes after this we take our regular exercises, which certainly have a tendency to wake you up thoroughly. After that we take our baths and then eat our 'chow,' (breakfast it would be called by the people of good old Bourbon county.) Then at 7:30 it is to 'fleece up,' and from 8:00 to 10:00 we have artillery drill, which is one of the most interesting parts of the day's program to me. But it is by no means a play affair, as some people might think. From 10:00 until 10:30 we have infantry drill, which completes the morning.

"In the afternoon we have about an hour and a half of infantry drill, and about two hours of games, such as boxing, wrestling, wheelbarrow races, foot races, and other kinds of games. I hold the record for the 12th Company on the foot race. The winners of the 12th and the 23rd companies are going to see which is the best next Sunday. I am hoping that it will be in our favor.

"Tell all my friends to write to me, as I would enjoy a letter from each one of them. These letters make you feel mighty good, especially when they come from your old home town. My present address is Private Charles Tackett, 12th Co., N. B., Ft. Kearney, Rhode Island."

THE NEWS is in receipt of a letter from Mr. H. E. Everman, formerly of Paris, who is now stationed on the U. S. Wolverine, at Detroit. Mr. Everman is a son of Mrs. J. A. Gilkey, of Paris. He enlisted in the navy last Spring and after an intensive course of training at the Great Lakes station, was sent to Detroit. The letter follows:

"No doubt you are somewhat surprised to see a letter from the writer of this, but this is war time and I want to thank you for forwarding your paper, THE BOURBON NEWS, to me. It comes to my address on time, but I am in and out, in and out of Detroit, almost daily, sometimes for the day and then for longer periods, and I often get more than one copy at the time on this account. Anyway, one or a dozen are welcomed with outstretched arms and I shall never forget you for your kindness.

"I noticed in a recent issue an article relative to writing to the boys at the front, and those in the service, which appealed to me very much. The writer of that sure had the proper spirit, for a letter oft times is like a message from Heaven, especially when a fellow feels down and out and among strangers. I have been fortunate along that line, but many a day have I seen my camp and ship-mates walk away from the mail clerk with head bowed as if some sorrow was hovering over them. I think the people who have to stay at home should write to the boys, sending them words of cheer, (never send them sympathy) no matter whose son he is, he is there fighting for them. We are all brothers and sisters, anyway, (in Christ.)

"At present I am on the U. S. S. Wolverine, and attached to the new training station near Detroit, but not permanently. Our ship is the oldest commissioned ship in the service to-day, having been launched in 1843. It is, or was, the original battleship, Michigan, but the name was changed when the new Michigan was built. It was the first steel ship ever launched and originally carried a complement of one hundred men and eight guns, but at present the number of the crew varies, as it is a training ship. I must say farewell for this time, as we are to be under way in an hour, for a cruise on Lake Erie. Let me thank you again, however, and with best wishes to you and hoping that I may see you when it is all over 'over there.'

"Yours truly,
"H. E. EVERMAN, U. S. N.,

Mr. and Mrs. Otis T. Bacon, of Wichita Falls, Texas, have received an interesting letter from their son, Bently Bacon, written from a French port, where he arrived on June 23, with the contingent of which he is a member.

Young Bacon is a nephew of Miss Clara Bacon, and Mr. J. W. Bacon, of Paris, and Mr. Warren A. Bacon, of Galion, Ala. The letter, a copy of which was furnished to Mr. J. W. Bacon, follows:

"Dear Father and Mother:
"We arrived here safely without seeing a U-boat or being sick. I can say that I do not like English cooking and am glad our cooks are again on the job. We landed in an English seaport and stayed there just about long enough to say we had been there. About all I saw of the town was a warehouse where we stayed. The few English women we saw sure had big feet. The railroad cars and engines look more like construction cars than anything else. Just about five to eleven tons capacity.

"The trip across the channel was rough and more boys were sick than at any other time. I have been here less than twenty-four hours but the suffering of the French plainly shows on the faces of the women folk. The little boys are active and seem to be pretty good rustlers, but the little girls show the pinch of poverty and their eyes show the look of hunger. One boy broke up a piece of hard tack and threw it out in the road and the children cleaned up the pieces like chickens would a handful of grain. The scraps from this camp go to feed the Belgians. All my surplus money is gone to feed the little girls, either give them money or food. I may draw a little money from my bank account; it will not exceed my City National Bank dividends.

"I saw a truck run by steam this morning, coal furnished the fuel. I sure am glad to have George Schumann in this regiment for he is certainly a prince and shows me every courtesy.

"Will close. Your son,
"BENJAMIN B. BACON,

"THE BLUE BIRD" TO BE SHOWN IN LOCAL THEATRES.

A photoplay of extraordinary interest will be shown to the patrons of the Alamo and Opera House on Tuesday, when "The Blue Bird," an Artercraft picture, will be presented.

The photoplay was produced at the studio of the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation. The intricate details in intelligently portraying allegory and symbolism, requiring multiple exposures in photography; the numerous and massive settings; the rehearsals of approximately one thousand actors, were successfully mastered by Mr. Tourneur.

The cast is too lengthy to enumerate, all the ordinary matter of life being personified, and beautiful girls in symbolic costumes interpret various parts. Eleanor Masters, the model for James Montgomery Flagg, is Milk; Mary Kennedy, Water; Lillian Cook, Fairy Berylune; Gertrude McCoy, Light; Rose Rolanda, the well-known dancer, leads a Ballet in symbolical interpretations, and Lyn Donelson is Night.

Tula Belle and Robin Macdougall, two clever kiddies well-known to picture patrons, are the children who search for the Blue Bird. Maurice Tourneur has won an enviable reputation as an artistic producer, and this spectacle has proven a subject in which his genius has been put to a severe test.

HOLES IN THE ROAD.

Rodman Wiley, Commissioner Department of Public Roads, Frankfort, Ky., says:

"A road is the means of transportation and upon the condition of the surface depends the cost of transporting materials. A great many people think that when a road is once built that it will stand for all time and do efficient work without any repairs, but such is not the case. Railroads, rivers, harbors and canals are patrolled, and in as much as the highways are subjected to more severe traffic than either of the above it stands to reason that they should receive constant attention. Besides, if the road is not smooth not only is the cost of hauling increased, but vehicles are caused to deteriorate most rapidly.

"Consider, for example, a large hole in a road. Everyone knows that when automobiles, wagons and buggies pass over holes that considerable damage is done. Suppose that the damage to an automobile is only one cent and that there were one hundred automobiles over the road in a day. The damage to the automobiles alone from that one hole in one day is $1.00. Suppose there are fifty such holes to the mile of road. Then the damage would be $50.00 per day or $1,500 per month and for twelve months in the year the damage to the automobiles alone passing over a mile of such road would be $18,000, which is a sufficient sum of money to build in its entirety a mile of road and use an excellent grade of materials. It might not be necessary to rebuild the road, and in that event it certainly should be maintained.

"It would seem to me that it is now high time that steps be taken to at least see that all the holes in the roads are kept filled. One way would be to appoint a patrolman on all the main roads in the county.

"I cannot believe that we will very much longer be willing to see each day thousands of dollars worth of damage done to property.

"The proposition is worth serious thought."

TO OPEN SCHOOL IN VOICE IN PARIS.

Under the auspices of the Lexington College of Music, the noted Swedish baritone, Birger Maximus Beausang, will open a class in voice in Paris about Sept. 12. The location of the studio will be announced later, according to Miss Anna Chandler Goff, Director of the Lexington College of Music, who was in Paris, Wednesday.

Birger Maximus Beausang is a Swede by birth, but came to this country in his youth and has received his high school and university education here. His A. B. degree was attained at Bethany College, Lindsborg, Kansas.

Mr. Beausang gave special attention to the study of music throughout his college education and after receiving his university degree went to Copenhagen, Denmark, and entered the opera school, studying with the master, Herman Spire. Here he remained several years. Clarence Whitehill, of Chicago, Grand Opera, and Peter Cornelius, the great Wagnerian tenor of Covent Garden, London, and of the Royal Opera of Copenhagen, are among the well known pupils of Herman Spire.

Later Mr. Beausang went to Berlin to study with George Ferguson and was to have been introduced in opera, but the declaration of war made that impossible, and Mr. Beausang returned to this country in December, 1914. He located in Chicago, where he has been devoting his time to concert work, teaching and directing.

THINGS TO WORRY ABOUT.

Enoch Grehan, the Lexington Herald's brilliant paragrapher, has the following in "Paragraphs" in a recent issue of the Herald:

"The Herald hastens to inform a Bourbon county communicant who writes to ask, 'What steps can I take to get relief from a hen-pecking wife?' that Paris green in the coffee is a reliable prescription, provided she doesn't think of it first."

THRESHING DELAYED

The work of threshing the big wheat crop of Bourbon county has been considerably delayed by recent heavy rains, but is now progressing. The threshermen take the crops in rotation, moving from one place to another. It will require about another week or two to complete the work. The wheat this year is pronounced of superior quality.

WANTED, A PARK FOR PARIS PEOPLE.

(Contributed)

It has long been recognized that the elements of beauty and recreation add to the welfare of a city. It becomes every citizen to have a home of his own and keep it always neat and attractive, well painted and in good repair, and if he has houses to rent, the same rule should prevail. If one house in a good neighborhood is allowed to become unsightly the tendency is for the disease to spread, then rents go down and the owners suffer.

Progressive cities have long ago recognized the fact that money spent for civic beauty and recreation is a good investment. Years ago in Paris, France, streets were taken in rotation, and when their time came each piece of property was required to be put in presentable condition, and now their parks and show places are the wonder of the world. Valuable as property is in New York, Central Park is not less than a mile in length and of proportionate width, and in it are woods and lakes, great rocks, ornamental buildings, playgrounds, flower beds, etc., and everything appropriate to a city's breathing place, and other parks, large and small, are scattered over the city. The neighboring towns are inspired with the same spirit.

Ten or twelve miles west of New York City are the Oranges, East Orange, West Orange, etc. Closer by is Jersey City, that has a good sized lake in one of its parks, where all kinds of water sports are enjoyed. All the Oranges are well parked. It is astonishing to see how the people will tax themselves to keep these up. A few miles away is Newark, N. J., with the Passaic River and falls, which are made part of a beautiful park. On Sundays and holidays the river and island are alive with people taking their pleasure. At East Orange, for a nickel car fare you can be taken to the foot of Orange Mountains, where easy walks and steps take you to the summit, where you can view the neighboring towns, and have a dim view of New York City. Close by is the Casino, where refreshments may be had. You are in a grove, in the midst of which is a large grassy space fit for athletic sports. Then you pass some ornamental buildings and a larger stretch of woods in a state of nature, and you reach a very considerable lake used for boating, etc., in summer and skating in winter. This is the county park kept up at public expense. Returning to the Hudson River you take the railroad for a few miles, crossing the Passaic and Hackensack rivers, through those wide, beautiful salt water meadows in the interstate park, owned by the States of New Jersey and New York.

Withing this park is a strip one mile wide and seventeen miles long, that was presented to the State of New York by C. P. Huntington, the railroad magnate. Also he gave some notable gifts to San Francisco in her famous park. This princely gift to New York was much improved by the State buying the famous Palisades of the Hudson, opposite the upper part of New York City. You can take an auto at Hackensack, and for twenty-one miles you can ride on a smooth asphalt road, past hamlets with queer Indian names. These have some queer alarm bells, great heavy iron tires of locomotive wheels suspended from a heavy timber, and to be struck when it is necessary to assemble the citizens. Part of the ground is cultivated, but mostly it is in the state of nature. So we drive through forests, past great rocks, mountain lakes, mountain views, strange wild flowers, etc., till we come to a place where, on a Sunday, we find hundreds of auto campers in the woods, while a steamboat is unloading hundreds more who have come by water. Then seven miles more brings us to West Point Military Academy with its wonderful buildings, grounds and monuments, and views of this historic river. Crossing to the other shore we pass down to New York City by many a historic place, the Zuyder Zee, Spuyten Dival Creek, Riverside Park, the Speedway, the Hall of Fame, etc., to the city, via the tunnel under the river to the Jersey shore, when half an hour's railroad ride brings us to East Orange from whence a nickel street car fare takes us to the foot of the Orange Mountains (?) about as high as the hills about Frankfort, Ky. An easy stairway takes to the top of the mountains.

Washington, D. C., is a park in itself and needs no mention. You can cross the city of Allegheny, Pa., by a string of parks. A few years ago Cincinnati leased some bleak hillsides that were so steep that it looked as though the cattle might fall off. They improved the place and now we have Eden Park. One of the brewers died and left a fund that provides full band music on Sundays and other days in the week, not only there, but also at Burnet Woods Park. This last was about to be sold off in town lots, but my brother, John A. Dailey, now of East Orange, New York, proposed that instead he offer it to the city for a park, and now it is a beautiful place. Louisville has a number of good parks, chief of which is Cherokee, about a mile square. Lexington has Woodland Park, that occupies about four city blocks. It is a beautiful woods pasture fitted out with a band stand and other buildings, swings, wading pools, tennis courts, etc. It is a beautiful place and on Sunday afternoons a large audience comes to hear the music. There is also a large park for colored people.

Paris has no park. It ought to have one for the benefit of the growing children. Nothing is better for their health than play in the open air with safe surroundings. I have only lived in the town a year and a half, but I am much like a Jew, wherever I hang up my hat there is my home, my town, my country, and for it I will work and talk and think. When a Sunday School gives a picnic a nice park would come in handy and save troubling the neighbors or going to a distance. There are various places in the town that would do. Mt. Airy would be an ideal place, could it be bought or leased. The little strip of woods starting from the corner of Houston avenue and Second street, with the adjoining ground on the same side of the creek that is now in tobacco, would make a delightful park. The large lot on the opposite side of Houston avenue, would be a good accessory. One dollar from each citizen would fit the place up nicely.

Yours truly,

ELEAZAR DAILEY.

PARIS NEEDS PARK.

In another column of this issue of THE NEWS appears an interesting contribution from Mr. Eleazar Dailey, of Paris, regarding a park or public playground for Paris people and children. The subject has been agitated before, but will bear a little bit more. Paris has long needed a recreation ground and it is to be hoped some good may come from the effort to secure such a place.

LITTLE INTEREST IN PRIMARY

Very little interest is being manifested in this city and county in the primary election which is to be held to-morrow to nominate candidates for Congressmen and Senators. Friends of United States Senator Ollie James in this county are working hard to bring out a large vote for him. Congressman Cantrill will have a walk-over, and the voters are not worrying much about the matter. The indications are that a comparatively small vote will be cast in the county.

CHAMPION JONAH MAN OF AMERICA IS CLAIM

Los Angeles.—R. D. Jacobs of Los Angeles says he is the champion Jonah man of America. Here's why:

While instructing his wife in the use of a revolver Mrs. Jacobs accidentally shot her husband in the shoulder. While Jacobs was receiving treatment burglars entered the home and stripped the place.

"The darned old thieves," yelled Jacobs, "took everything of value except the revolver which caused all the trouble. Can you beat it?"

NEEDS WALNUT WOOD

Government Makes Appeal to Owners of Trees.

Best Material for the Manufacture of Gun Stocks and Airplane Propellers.

Washington.—American walnut has proven, under a four-year test in this war, to be the best wood for the manufacture of airplane propellers and gun stocks.

Our government will need all of this wood it can secure during the continuance of the conflict. It cannot buy either logs or trees, as part of the lumber produced by the log is not suitable for either of the above purposes. However, it urgently petitions all owners of trees or logs to sell them to one or more of the sawmills which hold government contracts for gun stocks or propeller lumber. Fight with your trees. Don't let them remain idle slackers. Owing to their inability to purchase sufficient logs the sawmills have not yet been able to supply the present requirements of the government and its allies, and as our participation in the actual hostilities is increasing rapidly our requirements in this wood are monthly growing heavier. Every tree counts. Half a dozen will provide lumber to build a propeller blade and put a gun stock into the hand of each man in the platoon. The lack of one machine in the air or one platoon in the fight might turn the tide in a battle. Picture your own son or the son of your neighbor holding on and fighting against desperate odds until the company or regiment your trees have armed can come to his relief. Make this relief possible. Turn your trees loose. Wake up and get into the fight. In this way you will be fighting for and with him as truly as if you stood beside him in battle. And you have no right to do anything else. Act quickly.

If you have walnut trees write today to Capt. R. L. Oakley, production division, small arms section, ordnance department, Sixth and B streets, Washington, D. C. He will put you in touch with several sawmills holding government contracts, any one of which will buy your trees and pay you a fair price for them.

LADY STEVEDORES ON JOB

Three of Them Are Fired for Cussing—Others Are Giving Valuable Service.

Brooklyn, N. Y.—Sixteen women in overalls are wrestling daily with 132-pound bags of coffee and hundred-weights of sugar, working side by side with muscular men long used to this hard job. They are the new lady stevedores hired by the New York Dock company.

There would be 19 of these female dock wallpers were it not for the fact that three of the number engaged were fired on account of their cussing.

Among the present 16 are an author, a former vaudeville star, several widows, and two negro women. Their hours are 7 a. m. to 5 p. m. five days a week. They are getting 32½ cents an hour, the rate paid to men.

H. B. Whipple, general manager, predicts a bright future for all women similarly engaged, though he really had no notion the scheme would work as well as it has.

CAPTURES COUSIN IN RAID

American Soldier Grabs Relative in Attack on the Hun Trenches.

Hackensack, N. J.—Details of how two cousins, one a corporal in the American army and the other a soldier of the kaiser, met in France after a raid were told here recently.

The American is Corporal William Munz, Jr., of Hackensack, a member of the One Hundred and Sixty-fifth infantry, the old "Fighting Sixty-ninth." The German boy is Gustave Winkelmann of Bremen, a prisoner in an American camp. Letters from Corporal Munz say he was in a raid against the German trenches recently and came back with a batch of prisoners. The captives were being identified when Winkelmann mentioned that he had relatives in the United States. Munz asked their names and found that the boy was his cousin.

ITALY LIKES BASEBALL

Most Recent Victim of National Pastime Germ.

Football Popular as Well as Diamond Sport—Favored by Military Leaders.

New York.—One of the curious effects of the war is the international interest which has been aroused in American sports. Italy apparently is the most recent victim of the baseball germ, according to Dr. Felice Ferrero, director of the Italian bureau of information in this city.

Football, as played in America, as well as the national game of this country, also has taken hold of the popular interest in Italy. The Gazzetta dello Sport, one of the most influential sport journals of that country, is raising a fund for the purchase of baseballs, bats and footballs and the distribution of prizes among the soldiers to stimulate competition.

General Pennella, commander of the Second Italian army, in a letter to the Gazzetta dello Sport, says that football and baseball games are of inestimable value in the training for war. He praises the initiative of the Gazzetta dello Sport and says that he firmly believes that the stimulation of baseball and football competition among the various units of the Italian army will have the most gratifying and important results in maintaining the morale of the troops. General Pennella is especially pleased with baseball as an aid to training and the maintenance of the morale of the troops.

THEY LOOK THE PART

It seems peculiarly appropriate that these German soldiers should look like the swine they imitate in their methods of warfare, though perhaps the porkery will object to the comparison. The type of gas mask used by the enemy gives them this repulsive swinish appearance that is topped off by the spiked German helmet.

HE GOT THE RING FIRST

Young Man Prepared for Wedding and Did Not Worry About the Girl.

Cleveland, O.—Here's a young man who believes in the efficacy of preparedness.

With his young wife he appeared recently before Frank M. Kenney, chief clerk of local board No. 7 at Central armory.

"When did you buy the ring?" Mr. Kenney asked.

There was some discrepancy between the answers of the bride and the bridegroom and the clerk pressed for an explanation.

"Well, I'll tell you the truth," the man replied. "Some years ago I bought a watch on the installment plan and when it was paid for I thought the idea was a pretty good one. I figured to myself that some day I might want to get married, and thought it wouldn't be a bad idea to get the ring on the same plan."

"You mean you got the ring and kept it in your pocket until the right girl happened along?" Mr. Kenney inquired.

"That's just it, mister," the youth replied, unabashed. "This is the right girl, and we're just got married."

MAN TOO HEAVY FOR NAVY

Recruiting Officer Says Uncle Sam Hasn't Suit Big Enough for Kansan.

Salina, Kan.—"I want to fight," declared V. C. Emick, twenty-one, of Miltonvale, at the local naval recruiting office. A recruiting officer gave him the "once over," put him through a series of paces and then said:

"There is nothing doing here. There isn't a sailor suit in Uncle Sam's navy that would fit you."

Emick walked out of the office a disappointed man. He weighs 275 pounds and was recently registered under the new draft law.

USE SNAKES IN WAR

California Man Has Scheme to Kill Off Huns.

"Lonesome Jack" Says Side Winders Would Exterminate Whole Boche Army.

Los Angeles, Cal.—"Lonesome Jack" Allman, king of all rattlesnake catchers, offers to gather 10,000 side winders or hornet rattlesnakes if the government will let him, dump them into trenches vacated to the Germans by the Americans and let the snakes do the rest. The side winder is a death dealer extraordinary, strikes three times as fast as any other rattler, and, unlike others, does not act on the heart but paralyzes the nerves within 20 minutes.

Allman would have no trouble in gathering them in Arizona and the Imperial valley, he says. The Germans if they possessed such a deadly weapon would not hesitate to use it, Allman believes.

"The beauty of my idea is that the rattler can live five or six months in captivity without either food or water and they will be just as effective during that time," says Allman. "I have an antidote for rattlesnake bite that could be supplied to anyone that handles them, but the Germans would not know what stung them."

"My idea would be to catch them and then soak their tails in warm water. Then the shell that rattles and gives warning could be removed without injury to the snake. Their fangs are so sharp that unless the warning is given with the rattles a person would hardly know what bit him. Side winders range in size from four to twelve feet.

MARINE SOUNDS GAS ALARM

Back home, a gong similar to this was sounded when old man Zeke's barn was afire. In the battle zone it's quite a different occasion. This American marine is sounding the alarm so that our boys may be prepared to meet the poisonous gas attack being launched by the Germans by putting on their gas masks, which the marine has already done.

SAYS FUSSING IS HUMAN

Brooklyn Court Rules It Does Not Constitute Cruel and Inhuman Treatment.

Brooklyn, N. Y.—Squabbles, wordy altercations, unkind and exasperating or even insulting words used in the heat of passion aroused by bickerings do not constitute cruel and inhuman treatment, according to a recent divorce case decision by the appellate division. The court added:

"Unfortunately for our weak nature, these things constitute conduct which renders it unsafe or improper to live together."

Testimony went to show that the wife, who sought divorce and alimony, objected to the presence of a stepson and chased the male members of the family from the house.

"In these squabbles she (the plaintiff) seems to have been able to hold her own," said the court. "We do not think any law requires a domestic exile to support a wife while living apart from her own family."

ELOPERS BEAT OUT FATHER

Young Georgia Couple Run Off in Big Automobile and Are Married.

Nashville, Ga.—Foster Monk and Miss Maurine Moore of Douglas, Ga., were married here at midnight recently, after a sensational automobile race from Douglas.

Monk and his bride-to-be left Douglas ostensibly for a ride in Monk's "big six."

Shortly after their departure the father of the young woman became suspicious. The father and a twin sister of the bride brought an eight-cylinder car into play, giving chase. Cupid was the first to make the home stretch.

"Daddy, you are too late—we are married," was the daughter's greeting as the father came up.

The father accepted the situation, extended his blessing and congratulated the bridegroom on his skill as a driver.

Mobilizing a Nation's Fighting Strength

Great military cities have sprung up all over the land; and linking these training camps, aviation fields, coast defenses, naval stations and even most remote points where our forces are gathering, is the Universal Bell Telephone system—linking each with the other and all with the departments at Washington.

Upon the declaration of war the Bell system was placed unreservedly at the disposal of the government, whose already enormous demands for telephone service are continually increasing. Likewise, unprecedented are the service requirements of private business, which necessarily must be subordinated in times of emergency.

So far as the local service is concerned we are not only unable to increase our revenue by accepting a volume of new business, but we are in the awkward position of seeing our service suffer and our present patrons inconvenienced. The delays and inconveniences due to the congestion are more embarrassing to us than to the public.

Any sacrifice we may make is accepted cheerfully and if our difficulties are reflected in your telephone service, we ask that you bear this in mind.

The patriotic American public can co-operate most effectively with the government by discouraging unnecessary use of the telephone.

THE PEOPLE AND WAR TAXES.

More than $3,500,000,000 has been collected in internal revenue taxes, including income and excess-profits taxes, for the fiscal year. This exceeds by over $100,000,000 the estimates made a few months ago, and by over $200,000,000 the estimates made a year ago when the revenue measures were passed by Congress.

The success in collecting this large revenue is attributed by the Treasury Department to the patriotism and co-operation of the American people in promptly and cheerfully meeting the war burdens imposed upon them.

HUNS AND TURKS COME TO PARTING OF WAYS

LONDON, Aug. 1.—"The relations between Germany and Turkey have been severed, according to direct information from Constantinople."

This announcement is made by the Copenhagen correspondent of the Exchange Telegraph Company.

The excitement against Germany, the advices further say, has been growing, particularly after last week's events.

The Germans recently demanded the cruiser Hamidieh, the only large ship in the possession of Turkey, as compensation for the Breslau, the former German cruiser, which was destroyed in the Dardanelles while under the Turkish flag. Despite Turkey's protest the Hamidieh has departed for Sebastopol with the German flag flying.

Advices from New York say little has been reported to amplify the Copenhagen dispatch to the effect that Turkey and Germany have broken off relations.

Amsterdam advices, however, indicate that Turkey intends to pursue an aggressive policy in the Caucasus region, the field supposedly set aside for German exploitation.

This may carry a measure of confirmation of the rumor that the quadruple alliance has broken over the division of spoils subsequent to the peace treaties with Russia and Rumania.

WAR GARDENERS RESPOND TO CALL

Will "Keep the Food Coming" as General Pershing Has Asked.

BIG INCREASE THIS YEAR

Central West and Pacific Coast Especially Are Doing Well—National Commission Offers Prizes for Best Home-Grown Canned Vegetables.

Washington.—The war gardeners of the United States answered Pershing's call to "Keep the Food Coming." There are, according to figures being tabulated by the national war garden commission, 4,900,000 war gardens in the United States. These figures are incomplete and the estimates were made on reports received up to June 15. This number indicates an increase of 40 per cent over last year when there were 3,500,000 garden munition plants at work. Figuring in the increased cost this year over last, further estimates will be made by the commission both on the number of gardens and the estimated crop value.

"Taking these early figures into consideration," said Charles Lathrop Pack, president of the commission, in making public the preliminary survey, "together with the increased canning demonstration work being done by the United States department of agriculture in cities and towns, we feel safe in saying the forecast of 1,500,000,000 quarts in tin and glass of canned stuff, made by the department, will be reached."

Big Prizes Are Offered.

The report points to the early planting season this year, which was made possible by weather generally favorable throughout the country. To encourage saving the garden crop the national war garden commission, which planted a 400-acre demonstration war garden at Camp Dix, N. J., is offering $10,000 in prizes for the best canned vegetables grown in war gardens, with the slogan "Back up the cannon by use of the canner."

In nearly every section of the country there has been an appreciable and encouraging increase in the number of war gardens this year, the commission announced. This has ranged anywhere from 10 to 60 per cent. In the Eastern portions there was a failure to note a gain on the early returns.

"The greatest percentage of increase," the commission's statement adds, "was made in the Central Western states and Pacific coast, taking any one section of the country as a whole. There an awakening has taken place which revealed itself in an enthusiastic, widespread drive to help home food production. Of the total number of war gardens in the United States, the preliminary reports show that more than 2,000,000 of them—2,276,000, to be exact—were in the Central Western territory. There was a gain of fully 50 per cent over the war garden activity of last year."

Eastern States Lagging.

"The Eastern states, including New England, New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Delaware, on the whole showed little increase over last year. In certain parts of all this territory there has been a better showing, and particularly has there been a greater activity among manufacturing concerns in providing land for their employees; but these gains have been counteracted to a certain extent by less activity in other places; so that the amount of food home-grown along the upper Atlantic coast this year will be slightly if any greater than last year. Better cultivation in hundreds of cases may make up for what is lacking in numbers. In New York the park department alone reports 2,000 war gardens 26 by 40. The total number of war gardens in this territory, as shown by the reports, is 848,000, of which 787,000 are in New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Delaware.

"The South has made an excellent record, certain states in particular having made notable gains. Including Texas and Oklahoma, there are a total of 1,246,000 war gardens in the Southern states this year, one-fourth of the number in the entire United States. California, Washington and Oregon show a total of 468,000 war gardens. That the war gardeners intend to save a great part of the garden crop is shown in the 200 entries received up to July 1 for the canning contests that garden clubs are organizing all over the country."

REJECTED BY NAVY; DRAFTED

Man Is Accepted for Service in Army After Qualifying as Postman.

Corvallis, Ore.—Ernest Chase, rural mail carrier, enlisted in the navy. After his final physical examination he was discharged as being physically unfit. Then he got a job as rural carrier and invested $40 in a rig, horse and outfit. After working 20 days he was called in the military draft, passed by the local examining board, and ordered to camp.

He doesn't know now whether to sell his rig and give up his job, or whether to take a "lay off" and trust to being rejected by the army as he was by the navy.

TANK CORPS GROWING

Recruits Arrive Daily at Gettysburg Camp.

Long Hikes in Heavy Marching Order Fit Men for Duty With Pershing's Army.

Camp Colt, Gettysburg, Pa.—The American tank corps continues to grow and develop. Recruits are still coming in and the men already here are being drilled to within an inch of their lives. This is the preliminary discipline and the physical drill which will fit the men for the strenuous life of a "tanker" overseas. Twenty-mile hikes in heavy marching order are almost daily occurrences.

Although the work is hard, the men like it. They realize their need of this heavy drill and exercise. Negotiating the gray steel monsters over No Man's Land is distinctly not a job for a man whose muscles are not almost as hard as steel itself. And for an erstwhile civilian's muscles to become sufficiently hardened takes time and training.

The daily work, the fresh air, plenty of sleep and the excellent daily rations are doing wonders in producing as fine a bunch of real fighting men as can be found anywhere. The officers' school will be continued indefinitely. As fast as men complete the prescribed course, others will take their places. From now on, all commissioned officers will be selected from the ranks.

The tank corps is a progressive unit. Every once in a while a battalion will disappear overnight, bound for "somewhere." Recruits will fill their places and the work of training will move right along. New officers, trained simultaneously with the men, will command the disappearing battalion.

BEST SHOD FIGHTERS

The men stationed at Camp Sherman will be among the best shod fighters in the entire world. An experimental test to find the average size and width of the shoes used and the amount of leather consumed showed that by using a device known as the Resco shoe-fitting device the shoes are made more comfortable for the men and leather is saved. Here is shown the device being put to practical use. Each man wears two pairs of wool socks when fitted for the shoes.

SALUTES PHOTO OF PREMIER

Instinctive Action of Officer Reveals Respect of French for M. Clemenceau.

Paris.—Little unconscious acts often reveal the real measure of the popularity of a great leader.

In the photographer's showcase not far from the fashionable Parc Monceau there is among other pictures an excellent almost life-size head of M. Clemenceau. A young French officer who was passing the shop the other day glanced casually at the showcase. Perceiving the picture of his chief he instinctively raised his hand to a salute and passed on unaware that his spontaneous tribute had been observed.

In the early days of the long-range gun bombardment of Paris, says the Matin, it was stated that the shells were made from a new type of steel alloyed with vanadium, which gave it exceptional properties. But analysis has shown that the shells are made of ordinary nickel and chrome steel, such as is in current use for making guns both in France and Germany and whose properties are well known.

FAILS TO LOCATE BRAINS

Correspondence Course in Occult Science of No Help to This Man.

San Francisco.—Rushing up to Policeman J. Connell in the city hall, Sam Sanko announced with hectic tones that some unprincipled thief had gone and stolen his brains. Sanko, who is an Austrian, declared that the robbery had taken place four years ago and that he had taken a correspondence course in occult science in the hope of regaining the missing parts, but of no avail. Policeman Connell concluded that Sanko had diagnosed his own case very well, and so escorted him to the detention hospital.

CZECHS IN ITALY MUST WIN OR DIE

Fighting Against Austria, Their Capture Means Nothing but Execution.

WON'T LEAVE THEIR DEAD

All Fallen Comrades Carried From the Field—These Valorous Warriors Select Their Own Officers and Eliminate Weak and Unfit.

(Special Correspondence of Italian American News Bureau.)

Italian Front.—The Slav soldiers in the Italian army elect their own superiors by the most rigid tests, and thus they are representative of the manhood of their nationalities. The Italian soldiery and people have taken kindly to them.

The first of the proofs of valor they gave are admirable, although limited to modest operations in exploring and raiding. Whether by themselves or with Italian troops, these Czech-Slovaks, arriving from beyond the ocean, have kept up the fire of patriotism and the ardor to fight, and have fought well.

The repatriates of the Czech-Slovak army have been saluted already with brotherly love by the population in the zone of war, especially by the ancient inhabitants of the Veneto, who have the most recent and liveliest recollection of oppression and the convulsive struggle for redemption.

The women of Verona offered them a battle flag in the Bohemian colors, surmounted by a lion. The soldiers recognized the sanctity of the gift and swore an oath that they would die for that emblem of liberty. The expression was not rhetorical and the oath superfluous.

Are Killed If Captured.

The fate that awaits these new warriors for the ideals of a far-off and oppressed country is shown by the inflexible military rules of the Austrian empire. They are all subjects of the Emperor Carl and as such death is the only thing in store for them if captured.

Their word is for that reason sacred. Neither alive nor dead must they fall into the hands of the enemy. Even the dead must be snatched from the oppressor. Each one has sworn to carry off to the Italian lines the body of a compatriot killed in action.

Recently, during a reconnaissance, a Bohemian fell close to the enemy lines. Braving a hot fire, the explorers hurried to carry him off, fearing that in a night sortie the Austrians might get the body.

These "soldiers of death" know that if an operation fails of success they must kill themselves. To the ignominious death inflicted by the enemy they prefer suicide. Whether through death by the enemy or through their own hands, they have consecrated their lives to the distant fatherland, from which they have come to fight in the greatest cradle of all liberty and all ideals—Italy.

Eliminate Weak and Unfit.

Rome, the ancient lighthouse of civility and of liberty, has substituted these new companions in arms for those of Russia. These warriors for the freedom of their country have found in the ranks of our own combatants fraternity and sturdy faith. This fraternity, more than common ideals for the redemption of their respective countries, is cemented by the knowledge and vision of the real difficulties and the resolution and firmness of purpose of the new combatants. From their own ranks on a spontaneous vote they have eliminated all about whose military vigor or enthusiasm there could be any doubt, so that the recruits represent the flower of the soldiery of the oppressed nationalities. Drawn from the same country, speaking the same tongue, in the daily intimacy of their new military life, they have subjected each other to voluntary but inflexible tests. The results are confided only to their officers.

"Titus does not please me. He would not make a good corporal. We do not want him," they say. Thus, out of the ancient military system of Austria springs elements of criticism which exclude the weak and unfit. The officers must heed these verdicts, which, like all collective judgments, arise from a full consensus of the judges.

Elect Own Officers.

The examination of the political opinion is not less exacting for being carried out by fellow soldiers. A Czech recruit who spoke his mother tongue well was challenged by his compatriots. "He speaks our language well, but his heart is not Czech," they said. It was learned that during protracted business transactions in Vienna he had lost the fierceness and the intrepidity of the Bohemian character through daily contact with the Austrian authorities.

This control has been fraught with excellent results. Those who have survived the tests of the assembled judges have furnished the best war material and proved themselves dependable in military and moral affairs.

The officers are also elected by the soldiers, who trust their leaders with blind faith, and give them the most rigid obedience and discipline. Such discipline the new soldiers of liberty are taught, by their remembrance of imperial oppression, to hold essential to the triumph of their cause.

BURLEY.

—Roy King Burley, aged fourteen, son of Mr. Arthur Burley, residing on Eighth street, died at the Massie Memorial Hospital, in this city, Tuesday night, from the after-effects of an operation performed for appendicitis. Young Burley had been ill but a few days, and was taken to the Hospital after symptoms of appendicitis manifested themselves. The operation was deemed necessary, and was performed early last Friday afternoon. The patient stood the ordeal very bravely and was thought to be doing well until late Tuesday afternoon, when a relapse set in, from which he did not rally, death ensuing in the night.

Young Burley had been for a long time on the carrier force of THE NEWS and the Lexington Herald, and faithfully served a large number of patrons over an extended territory. He was a member of the Boy Scouts and the Liberty Drum and Bugle Corps, and was highly regarded by his comrades. He is survived by his father, Mr. Arthur Burley, one sister, Miss Emma Louise Burley, and his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Burley, who now reside in Wyandotte, Mich.

The funeral was held from the residence on Eighth street, yesterday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock, with services conducted by Rev. W. E. Ellis, pastor of the Paris Christian church. The burial followed on the family lot in the Paris Cemetery. The pallbearers were Collins Hall, Robert Hall, James Rowland, Keller Larkin, Adrain Flanders, Norbert Friedman.

All the churches and pastors are asked to observe the day in accordance with the spirit of the call.

NEW BRAND OF GERMAN PROPAGANDA TURNS UP.

A new brand of German propaganda has come to light.

It is directed against the automobile industry. A number of alarming and malicious stories have broken loose simultaneously in a dozen or more of the large cities. The purpose of all of them has been the same, and that is to alarm the motoring public as to the future of the motor car.

One story that has been industriously circulated was that there would be serious shortage of tires as a result of the embargo on crude rubber. That this report is unfounded is proved by the following information offered by the B. F. Goodrich Rubber Company, backed up by Great Britain. Uncle Sam has promised the rubber trade in America 100,000 tons of "overseas" rubber this year. Last year American manufacturers used 57,000 tons above 100,000. It is estimated the reserve stock on hand in America, the first of the year amounted to 80,000 tons, so added to the 100,000 tons guaranteed her, America is really better fixed now than last year.

Another Hun lie was to the effect that, beginning July 1, to save gasoline the Government would order the discontinuance of passenger cars on Sunday for a period of twelve continuous Sundays. There is no shortage of gasoline yet in this country, and the Government so far as we know is not contemplating any action of an alarming nature along this line.

Probably the most harmful propaganda now in circulation is: "Keep the heavy trucks off the highways; they are destroying them." This story spread so quickly and so widely in one Eastern State that the State Legislature actually almost passed a law forbidding heavy trucks on its highways, and probably would have done so but for the vigilance of motor truck owners.

To say that roads are bad because motor trucks have been passing over them is simply a confession that the roads are not properly built and maintained. In a survey recently completed by the Goodrich National Touring Bureau it was found that it is possible to build roads which will stand up under the heaviest motor traffic. Such roads exist to-day and have for several years in the State of Connecticut.

Connecticut has furnished the example for the rest of the States. She not only has excellent highways throughout the State, but has carried her rockwork right to the State lines of adjoining States, instead of stopping the work at the last important town, as is the unfortunate method in many States. She has given the lie to the insidious reports that trucks destroy highways. Connecticut says that the right kind of roads, properly maintained, will withstand the hardest truck traffic. More than that, she has adopted the policy of removing snow from her highways in the winter, so that she gets the use of them for twelve months of the year.

TRAINS WOMEN IN DRAFTING

On account of the urgent need for draftsmen in the large industrial plants of the United States, because of the large number of men filling these positions answering the call to the colors, the course in drafting for women at the University of Kentucky will be made continuous, it has been announced at Lexington.

A young woman may enter the three months' course at any time, and if she has shown proficiency will be given a position at once. The draftsman course is thought to offer the best opportunity of any work open to women. It is pointed out by those in charge of the course that it not only fits them to fill a man's place, but it gives them an opportunity to get into work that is elevating and throw them in contact with the best workers. Twenty young women who entered the first draftsman class will complete their work on September 17, and already, the College of Mechanical and Electrical Engineering has received more requests than there are members of the class.

The valuation department of the Illinois Central Railroad has sent in a request for women who have taken the draftsman course; the Western Electric Company has asked for ten, and the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, at whose request the course was instituted at the University, has agreed to place twenty. These positions pay from $75 to $100 a month to start.

FOOD ADMINISTRATION MAKES
ANOTHER SLIGHT CONCESSION

Another step toward partial resumption by the nation of its old habit of eating has been taken by the Food Administration in releasing housewives from voluntary pledges to curtail the consumption of wheat. This follows closely the release of hotels, restaurants, clubs and dining car services from their privileges, becoming effective yesterday.

No change has been made, the Food Administration announced, in the half-and-half rule, and purchasing of wheat flour will require the purchase of an equal weight of wheat substitutes. Bakers still are required to make "victory" bread, containing at least 25 per cent wheat substitutes. Coming in of the new wheat crop has made it possible for the release of the voluntary wheat savings, the food administration said.
